No flag but the Old Flag—the Red White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

THURSDAY MORNING, FEB 11, 1864

Union County Convention

The legal voters of Multnomah County who are in favor of loyalty and union instead of treason and disunion—who are in favor of a republican democracy instead of a moneyed aristocracy or a slave oligarchy—who are ready and willing to support the present federal administration in the measures it has employed to preserve the Union and put down the rebellion—in fine all good sound unconditional Union men are requested to meet in their several precincts at the usual place of voting on Thursday, the 3d March next at 2 o'clock P M, for the purpose of choosing delegates to attend the County Convention to be held at the Court House in Portland on Saturday the 12th March next, 1 P M., to elect delegates to attend the Union State Convention at the time, place, and for the purposes recommended by the Union State Central Committee, and also to transact any other business proper to be done by the Convention

The several precincts will be entitled to the following number of delegates to the County Convention: North Portland 19 South Portland 20 Sauvies Island 3 St Johns 1 Willamette 2 Sandy 2 Powell's Valley 3 Multnomah 2 Multnomah No 2 2

It is earnestly hoped that a full attendance will be had at the several precinct meetings, thereby expressing the wishes of the people at our coming County and State Conventions instead of submitting to political trades made by aspiring demagogues

By order of the Committee
A J DUFUR, Chairman.

Steam Communication with San Francisco

The commercial intercourse of this city is almost entirely dependent upon the owners of steamers, residing abroad, who have no interest whatever in Oregon, and care nothing about our prosperity except as it makes business for their ships. They can take them away as soon as a better trade is open to them or they can continue to send such as are unfitted to the route, until they tumble to pieces o wrecked for lack of power and strength ill stand the violence of our northern is well known that the business is profitable, and that every trip re andsome gains, long since their it and should from the large sums e furnished ships more conven ible, and in all respects the route But while the at pays so liberally and any competition, it is any improvement Their as men generally are en by gain alone Now is there capital and enterprise in Port to correct this mischief city comfort advantage to s and also a business which able income? Two steamers capacity proper draft, and rea unning direct to San Francis constant employment, amply es It owned by a corpora composed of our own mer interested in the welfare of they could defy competi such prompt and frequent is we need, but cannot have t arrangements Will not tially concerned, give this eration which its importance

A MILITARY DESPOTISM.—An exchange says that "great complaints are made by the southern papers, without distinction of party, of the tyranny of the Richmond Government, and great fears are entertained that it will result in a military despotism The military are charged with riding rough shod over the civil authorities." We cannot imagine what more can be done by rebel leaders to make a military despotism, than has already been accomplished Every man is a conscript, without regard to age or employment—all property is subject to the demand of any man who carries a sword or pistol, and the whole region is subject to the iron and bloody rule of a dynasty more unrelenting than any which ever before cursed mankind, except in the age of barbarism Nor is there any relief until the advancing power of the Union strikes off the shackles of this merciless tyranny wherever it gains control There the flag of freedom is joyfully welcomed and hailed as a pledge of redemption from the cruel thraldom under which the land has groaned The despotism is as complete as possible; no new device of slaveholding tyranny can make it worse or more unbearable God in mercy grant that these poor sufferers may find abundant and speedy relief in the progress of our armies and the restoration of order under the protection of the Union.

CHICAGO Feb 3.—Natchez intelligence of the 2d says that deserters entered the Federal lines a few days previously who reported a rebel General, with two brigades of Texas and Louisiana troops, marching from the interior of Western Louisiana, opposite Rodney, intending to blockade the river temporarily in order to get arms and ammunition across from the eastern side also that Bragg with his staff is expected to cross there and assume command of the rebel forces on the west side of the river. The enemy succeeded the week before last in crossing in a flat boat containing 1 000 stand of arms and a large quantity of ammunition, near Granville A company of the 29th Illinois mounted infantry are reported to have been captured 15 miles in the rear of Natchez by rebel cavalry a few days since

FORTRESS MONROE, Feb 2.—The steamer Union captured on the 14th January the rebel steamer Mayflower in Sarasale Pass, Florida, with a cargo of cotton

On the 31st January an expedition went up the James river and Pagan creek to Smithfield to join an expedition up the Chuckatuck, under Gen Graham, to destroy provisions and supplies The expedition consisting of 90 men and one howitzer under Captain Lee, landed at Smithfield to march to Chuckatuck. When five miles beyond Smithfield they encountered a rebel force 200 strong with two pieces of artillery. They routed them but receiving false information of a heavy force between them and the Chuckatuck, they returned to Smithfield, and sent for the armed transport Smith Briggs which, owing to a fog did not arrive till Monday noon The enemy, 500 strong with four pieces of artillery, attacked Capt Lee at daylight, who was in Smithfield, entrenched Our forces held out against several furious attacks and charges from the enemy until the Smith Briggs arrived The enemy were repulsed in each attack with heavy loss They sent three flags of truce demanding a surrender all of which Capt Lee refused. On the arrival of the Smith Briggs, our men retreated on board, when the enemy opened a heavy fire of artillery upon them. The Chief Engineer was wounded and the Second Engineer missing This prevented the boat from working off, and finally a ball struck her boiler and she was disabled Capt Lee and a portion of his men escaped by swimming across the river, others were captured, among whom was Capt. Rowe who was wounded Our loss in killed, wounded and missing is 80 The enemy's loss in killed wounded and missing is 150, Soon after the capture of the Smith Briggs she was blown up

NEW YORK, Feb 3.—A special Washington dispatch to the Herald dated Headquarters Western Virginia of the 2d states Colonel Mulligan this morning drove the enemy from and reoccupied Burlington, Moorfield Junction in Patterson creek valley at noon 500 rebel cavalry attempted to burn the North Branch and Patterson Creek bridges and cut the telegraph They were driven off without doing serious damage.

The Tribune's Washington special despatch says Letters from Europe show a strong tendency in the Government and financial circles of France and England to adopt a system of currency on the national credit, which has performed such miracles in sustaining the vast expenditures of our war.

Some months ago we stated on authority of an officer attached to the steamship Tuscarora, now in European waters, that Mr Laird was solicited to sell his rams to the British Government The story has been repeated since with the addition that a certain proposition had been refused A naval officer has however, received a letter from his European correspondent, stating that the English Government and Mr Laird differ only about the price of the vessels and if the Government will give the figure, it is stated by him they can have the crafts notwithstanding the statement to the contrary recently published by the British newspapers

The Washington Republican in its leader of yesterday afternoon headed Suggestions Concerning the Further Prosecution of the War reviews the results of the previous campaign and advocates a vigorous effort to overthrow the rebel army in Virginia as of prime importance It advocates a campaign up the James river believing the occupation of the James river would place at our mercy Petersburg and the railroad from Richmond to Danville, and would cause the evacuation of Richmond

BALTIMORE February 5th.—The following has just been received from Fortress Monroe A messenger has just arrived with despatches to Gen Butler from Newbern. On the afternoon of the 2d Newbern was attacked, and the rebels hold the railroad between Newbern and Moorhead city but may be forced to retire to Fort Macon They surprised and captured the gunboat Underwriter and destroyed her As long as we can keep the river open we are all right

CHICAGO, February 5th.—A brief mention has been made in previous despatches of an extensive expedition down the Mississippi The general impression seems to be that it will co operate with Gen Banks in a combined land and naval attack on Mobile Gen Sherman commands the land forces from the North, and Admiral Porter the fleet Every gunboat has been ordered to join the fleet and every available transport is pressed into the service carrying troops Seventeen large steamers were taken at Cairo on the 16th ult On the 24th the Sixth Division of the Sixteenth Army Corps consisting of over 8 000 men left Columbus At Memphis great activity prevails Corinth was evacuated on the 25th everything of value having been brought to Memphis The railroad east of Lagrange was abandoned at the same time and the whole force holding the country between Memphis and Corinth have gone down the river under command of Gen Hurlbut A large and effective cavalry expedition has been organized under Gen Smith Grant's Chief of Cavalry The expedition will make an extensive raid through the heart of Mississippi Alabama and Georgia, to look after the railroads cotton and negroes The force will probably number about 12 000 In Louisiana also things are working Troops are being ferried over Lake Ponchartrain and landed at Madisonville to co operate with the Northern expedition

DESTITUTION IN GEORGIA.—The New York World's correspondent at Chattanooga writes the following

I visited the post of Bridgeport a day or two since and remained several hours with Colonel McDougal of the One Hundred and Twenty third New York who is in command Witnessing a crowd of females around the commissary I inquired the cause They are applicants for relief replied Col McDougal I approached the wretched creatures and though familiar with the misery and destitution of camps I must confess I never before witnessed a parallel to the scene which presented itself I counted forty seven females, of whom three possessed money to make purchases, the remainder were all pensioners on the bounty of the Government—all seekers for alms at the hands of the detested Yankees who had been represented as the embodiment of all that was parsimonious Of course the whole throng must first apply to the Provost Marshal and when the proper hour had arrived they were ushered into his tent one by one, to relate their sufferings and the causes which had reduced them to their present condition. They were all new applicants the old ones getting supplies at regular intervals without the intervention of the Provost Marshal The first whose fortune it was to be called was a Mrs Ricard

Provost Marshal—"Are you a widow?"

Mrs Ricard—"No sir"

P M—"Where is your husband?"

Mrs R—"With Bragg, in the Third Tennessee Cavalry"

P M—"Your husband is in the rebel army; when did he join?"

Mrs R—"Two years since"

P M—"Did he volunteer?"

Mrs R—"Yes to avoid being conscripted."

P M—"But the rebel Conscription Law was not then in force"

Mrs R—"But they told him that it would soon be, and he had better volunteer

P M—"Was he a strong Secessionist from the start?"

Mrs R—"Yes he thought you wanted to deprive us of our rights and take all our slaves"

P M—"How many slaves did he own?"

Mrs R—"None"

P M—"Had he a plantation?"

Mrs R—"No, sir.

P M—"What property had he

Mrs R—"Nothing, he lived by day's work"

P M—"Why, then, was he so fearful about the slaves?

Mrs R—"Because he was afraid the North would put the niggers on an equality with us

P M—"Your husband is in the rebel army, and you ask us to supply you with bread Why do you do this?

Mrs Ricard threw aside the fly of the tent and just outside stood five small children who had but a single article of clothing—a light cotton wrapper on each though the wind was blowing chilly cold from the north "They have not had a mouthful since yesterday morning" said Mrs Ricard, "and not half enough for six months The appeal was irresistible The Provost Marshal then told her he would administer the oath, and got her relief On being asked to subscribe her name, she replied that she could not write and accordingly a resort was had to the mark I continued with the officer till the whole number was disposed of and noted the statistics relative to the forty four who were applicants for alms Of these, thirty two could not read or write

SANITARY FUND AT SALEM.—The recent receipts for this purpose in Salem have netted the amount of $1,142 63 in currency, which has been forwarded by Mr Moores to Rev. Dr Bellows and $33 22 coin still on hand. A very generous proof of patriotic sympathy.

Feb. 11, 1864. By order of M. E. H. P.

SHOCKING CASE OF INFIDELITY—A WIFE KILLS HER HUSBAND WITH A GUN LOADED BY HER PARAMOUR.—Some months ago a man named Wm. P. Edwards was brutally murdered at Chinook, under very mysterious circumstances. Suspicion at first rested upon an old Indian in the vicinity, as the one committing the deed, and he was arrested, but finding no proof against him, was released. A young Frenchman was next suspected as the guilty party, but upon examination was likewise acquitted. Here investigation ceased for a long time, and the matter was being forgotten, until circumstances again aroused suspicion—this time upon a young Kanaka, named Prisch, formerly a hand employed by the steward on the John H. Couch, running between this city and Astoria, and the wife of Edwards; nothing was done, however except to drive Prisch from the vicinity, by threats of violence. He left for Cathlamet, and was no more seen at Chinook, until a brother was killed there, which circumstance was sufficient for the people to suffer him to remain a while, and thus the thread began to unravel. The widow of Mr. Edwards, and a half breed girl that had lived in the family prior to the murder, still remained at Chinook. But a short time elapsed before Prisch and Mrs. Edwards went together, to live at Bruceport, on Shoalwater Bay, and the girl sought a home with another family at Chinook, and in a few days revealed the mystery and exposed the plot that had resulted in the death of Mr. Edwards. The witness is an intelligent half-breed girl, named McCarty. She states that Prisch had been making his home at the house of Mr. Edwards, for some time, and that he was not welcome to Mr. E., but for fear of driving off his wife he had permitted Prisch to remain, until at length he went away of his own free will; after this he was in the habit of returning very frequently, and upon one of these visits he loaded the gun, with shot and ball, and left. When out of sight Mrs. Edwards took up the gun and followed her husband to where he was hunting ducks, and deliberately shot him. The gun was discharged in his back, and being very heavily loaded, rendered the body a sickening sight. The parties were all arrested, by officer Sweeney, on Sunday last.

A MISTAKE, PROBABLY.—The dispatch yesterday mentioned the appointment of a new Governor of Idaho. The person referred to, is, we presume, Hon. Caleb Lyon, of Lyonsdale, formerly a member of Congress from New York. He is a man of considerable literary reputation, and will doubtless conduct the affairs of his new position with ability and success.

THE PORT ANGELES CALAMITY.—From a gentleman who recently arrived from below, we learn the cause of the late disaster at Port Angeles. It seems that about five miles above the town a heavy land-slide occurred in a canyon, completely filling up the channel, causing the water to back up until the pressure became so great that it burst through this barrier and came rushing down the mountain gorge with irresistible force, carrying everything before it; causing destruction to both life and property. The town is rapidly recovering from the effects of the disaster; several new buildings are in process of erection; the Custom House is again established on terra firma, and the little town, which, a few days since, presented nothing but a sad picture of desolation, has already began to resume its wonted lively appearance.—Overland Press.

THE FUTURE OF THE REBEL LEADERS.—In Everett's oration at Gettysburg, he thus alludes to those that devised and conducted the great conspiracy:

> "The people of loyal America will never take to their government the hard hearted men whose cruel lust of power has brought this desolating war upon the land,—but there is no personal bitterness against them. They may live, if they can bear to live, after wantonly causing the death of so many thousand fellow men, they may live in safe security beneath the government they have sought to overthrow; or they may fly to the protection of the governments of Europe. Some of them are already there, seeking, happily in vain, to obtain the aid of foreign powers in furtherance of their own treason. There let them stay. The humblest dead soldier that lies cold and stiff in his grave before us, is an object of envy, beneath the clods that cover him, in comparison with the living man who is willing to grovel at the foot of a foreign throne for assistance in compassing the ruin of his country."

HAVE YOU NOTICED THE EMBROIDERY which is rapidly becoming the most popular trimming in use for cloaks, dresses, children's garments, &c.? Undoubtedly, and wondered how such elaborate designs could be executed in so brief a time, and at so cheap a rate. The manner in which it is done, the styles in which it can be executed, and all information necessary can be acquired by calling at any of the Agencies of the GROVER & BAKER Sewing Machine throughout the State.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES FOR COUGHS AND COLDS.

A NEGLECTED COUGH, COLD, AN IRRITATED OR SORE THROAT, if allowed to progress results in serious Pulmonary Bronchial and Asthmatic Diseases oftentimes incurable. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES reach directly the affected parts, and give almost immediate relief. For BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, and CONSUMPTIVE COUGHS, the Troches are useful. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS should have the Troches to clear and strengthen the Voice. MILITARY OFFICERS and SOLDIERS who overtax the voice, and are exposed to sudden changes should use them. OBTAIN only the genuine. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" having proved their efficacy by a test of many years, are highly recommended and prescribed by Physicians and Surgeons in the Army, and have received testimonials from many eminent men.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Medicine in the United States and most Foreign countries at 25 cts per box.

THE IRISH BULL.—SIR BOYLE ROCHE'S [illegible].—Many of Sir Boyle Roche's blunders are happily preserved.

[illegible] "I would give up half—nay, the whole of the constitution, to preserve the remainder!" This, however, was parliamentary.

Hearing that Admiral Howe was in quest of the French, he remarked, somewhat pleasantly, that the Admiral would "sweep them off the face of the earth."

[illegible] came dangerous times of disaffection [illegible] men's lives were insecure, Sir Boyle writes from the country to a friend [illegible] the discouraging view of his [illegible] "You may judge," he says, "of our [illegible] when I tell you that I write this with a sword in one hand and a pistol in the other."

Another occasion, when the famous letters in the Public Advertiser were attracting attention, Sir Boyle was heard [illegible] bitterly of the attacks of a certain writer called Junius."

[illegible] Sir Boyle who recounted marvelous [illegible] in gymnastics, when, in a tumult [illegible] he "stood prostrate at the feet of [illegible] sovereign."

[illegible] was denounced in withering language [illegible] politician who "turned his back [illegible]

The man left the [illegible] feeling as though he was suffocating for [illegible] air. He had learned a lesson that [illegible] through life.

FUN IN CHURCH.—The New York correspondent of the Boston Journal thus shows how "genuine fun at times gets into the church:"

In one of our meetings in which petitions of all sorts of persons are read for all sorts of things, one was read "for a young woman who had lost her first love." In the meeting was a person who frequently took part, whose habit it was to add er after some words, such as "O, Lord—er, hear our pray—er, come and bless us—er." Being a believer in falling from grace, he had an eye to the welfare of the young woman who had lost her first love; he arose to pray for her, which he did in this manner: "O, Lord hear the prayer-er of this young woman-er, who has lost her first love-er." In each repetition of the word he called it lover, and so emphasised the word "first" that the case seemed particularly hard, from the fact that it was her "first lover" she lost. Had it been the second one, or any other, the affliction would not have seemed so great; and as the ardent prayer went forth that the lost lover might be restored, grave faces relaxed, and countenances unused to smile in the house of the Lord could not resist the temptation. The idea of a stray lover being the theme of prayer, was comical indeed.

There is this difference between hatred and pity: pity is a thing often avowed, seldom felt; hatred a thing often felt, seldom avowed.

MISSOURIANS AND THE REBELLION.—The following is an extract from some late correspondence of [illegible] to the San Francisco Journal, dated St. Joseph, Mo., [illegible]

All along the route from Salt Lake I met with many Missourians, who, although they were down on the Abolitionists, yet expressed the greatest satisfaction at the progress of the rebellion. Some of them told me frankly that they had been in the rebel service, but that they had seen enough to satisfy them never to take anything more to do with it, whatever. One man told me [illegible] Sterling Price's brigade at the commencement of the rebellion, and that himself and a brother were induced to join that person in the war against the old Government through the influence of leading men in the section, but that another brother joined the Union army under Gen. Curtis, and that all three of them fought at the battle of Pea Ridge, on opposing sides, and that when he witnessed neighbor shooting down neighbor and brother slaughtering brother in that terrible contest, it was enough to cure him, and that he immediately after deserted from the rebel army, and had ever since been stopping among the Rocky Mountains, picking up a precarious subsistence as best he could. This man evinced a longing, yearning wish to go back to his old home, but said he supposed Abe Lincoln's men would make it too hot for him if he did so. I happened to have in my pocket a Salt Lake paper which contained the President's Message with the proclamation of an offer of pardon to all who would return to their allegiance and take the prescribed oath. This was read aloud to a number standing by, and most of them expressed their delight that a way was opened by which those now offending, and becoming repentant, could be restored to citizenship. Along the route in Colorado and Nebraska I heard a few expressions of disloyalty from Northern born Copperhead Democrats, but in Kansas or Missouri I have yet to bear witness to the most remote expression of disloyalty from any person whatever. I have been here now three days, and mingled with the crowds in public rooms of hotels, and find that the prevailing sentiment is that of regret that Missouri ever became involved in the meshes of secession. There is considerable talk about filling up the quota of troops under the new call of the President, but no one complains. It is agreed on all sides that the rebellion must be put down, whatever the cost. Slaveholders are bringing in their able bodied negroes for enlistment, as this will save themselves from the draft, and really is their only chance to get any compensation for this species of chattle property. Set Missouri down, hereafter, as one of the most radical of the anti-slavery States. She has received her baptism in freedom from the fiery crucible of civil war.

JOSH BILLINGS INSURES HIS LIFE.—The Poukeepsian has the following :

I kum to the conclusion lately, that life waz so onsartin, that the only wa fer me 2 stand a fair chance with other fokes waz 2 git my life insured, and so i called on the Agent of the Garden Angel Life Insurance Co., and answered the following questions, which waz put 2 me, over the top uv a pare uv gold specks, by a slik little fat old feller, with a round gray hed, and az pretty a little belly on him az any man ever owned :

1.—Air yu mail or femail? if so, stait how long yu hav been so.

2.—Air yu subjec 2 fits, and if so, du yu hav more than one at a time?

3.—What iz your presize fiteing wate?

4.—Did yu ever hav eny ancestors, and if so, how much?

5.—What iz your legal opinyon uv the constitushionality uv the 10 commandments?

6.—Do yu ever hav eny nite mares?

7.—Air yu married and single, or air yu a Bachelor?

8.—Du yu beleave in a future stait? if yu du, stait it.

9.—What air your private sentiments about a rush uv rats 2 the hed; can it be did successfully?

10.—Hav yu ever committed suiside, and if so, how did it seem 2 effect yu?

After answering the above questions, like a man in the confirmatif, the slik little fat old feller with gold specks on, sed I waz insured for life, and probably would remain so for a term uv years. I thanked him, and smiled one uv my most pensive smiles.

ANECDOTE OF RABELAIS.—Rabelais, being in very needy circumstances, and at the same time very anxious to visit Paris, filled several papers with brickdust, and labeled them, "Poison for monsieur," "for the dauphin," "for the king." These he carefully placed in his escritoire, knowing that his landlord was of the Paul Pry order, and fond of investigating his correspondence in private. The bait took; a special messenger arrived in consequence of the intelligence which had been furnished at court, and at the king's expense the wit traveled to his paradise, with proper accommodation found him on the road.—Fortunately for him he was recognized, and his powder proved harmless, or had he been a droll of less repute, he might have expiated his fun on the gallows.

THE SPIRIT OF CONVERTED REBELS.—Some time last year, whilst Col. Campbell was Provost Marshal of Nashville, a rebel was carried before him, on some complaint, and got off by "taking the oath." After which the following colloquy occurred :

"I'm a loyal citizen, now; am I not, Colonel?" asked the rebel.

"Of course," replied the Colonel.

"I can talk now, and express my opinion, can't I?"

"Of course."

"Well, Colonel, didn't the rebels give us hell at Shiloh?"

The Old Adam was still in him, and he couldn't disguise it.—Nashville Union.

LIBERTY TO BE DAMNED.—Frederick II, of Prussia, received a petition from one of his districts praying that a certain clergyman be suspended from preaching, because he held that the punishment of the wicked would come to an end. The King took his pen and wrote the following : "I have considered the above petition, and do hereby give my royal permission to all my loyal subjects to be damned to all eternity if they choose it. But I do positively forbid their quarrelling with their neighbors who are not willing to keep their company so long."

A NEW QUESTION.—"Ma," said a little girl to her mother, "do men want to get married as much as the women?"

"Pshaw! what are you talking about?"

"Why, ma, the women who come here are always talking about getting married—the men don't do so."

As it is the easiest thing in the world to be mistaken ; mankind should never form an adverse opinion of a person without such proof as places conviction beyond all doubt or question. Many an innocent bosom bleeds through the inhumanity of hasty conclusions.

A Western editor in an obituary on a young lady, who had recently died, closed by saying : "She had an amiable temper, and was uncommonly fond of ice cream and other doltencies."
